International Journal of Education Research for Higher Learning is a biannual refereed journal published by the Research, Publication, and Innovation Center (RPIC) of the University of the Immaculate Conception. The journal tackles significant issues in the disciplines of humanities and languages, natural and health sciences, mathematics and physical sciences, engineering and information technology, education and social sciences, and business.

This periodical is committed to providing faculty members with an appropriate avenue to fully develop their intellectual traits through the publication of their research outputs and other scholarly endeavors.

The reports published in this journal undergo a meticulous double-blind refereeing process to ensure academic quality. The editors, research committee members, and reviewers are renowned critics and scholars in the various fields covered by the journal.
